Secretary Wilbur is familiar with all the questions, legal or otherwise, that have arisen in regard to the conviction of Col. Williams on charges of intoxication, and it is expected that he will require little time to make up his mind.

Cromwell is confident his charges can win the meet. He won the affair last season with 32 points. Yale was in front the previous year with 28 digits. This year, if the points could be split enough, the Trojans 35 "dinch" points, in Houser, Dye, Grumbles and Barnes, would wellnigh take the cup. However, Cromwell is confident that besides this array of digits, such able performers as Ron Stever and Cliff Reynolds in the high sticks. Mort Kaer in the lows, House, Parsons and Smith in the sprints Niersbach in either the quarter or the half, Coggeshall and Ross in the high Jump, and Bill Cook in the Javelin, will round up enough points to insure the victory.

N OBODY was very much surprised—or very much disappointed—when the Pacific Coast Conference decided to tear up its fen-year agreement with the Pasadena Tournament of Roses. The conference has acted miserably throughout the whole connection with the Pasadena bama-Washington contests of recent memory.

The idea of making a western champlonship meet out of the affair hitherto known as the Pacific Coast Conference meet, is a good one. There has most decidedly been a demand for a meet of some kind in which the cream of the athletes of the West should get together. Of course, the big schools like Stanford, U.S.C., and California, to put them in the order in which they finished this year, would hog the llon's share of the honors but there would be an opportunity for other little giants to repeat the sensational performance of Montana in the 1926 affair. There are a lot of great athletes in the little schools who could enter an affair like this and achieve the fame and recognition that would be rightfully theirs by meeting and beating the best in their line in the West.

Unquestionably a meet of this kind would threaten the supremacy of the I.C.A.A.A. and Chicago intercollegiates. Our athetes seem to lead the world and there is every reason to believe that in a very short space of time the western meet would achieve equal if not greater prominence than the big meet of the year among the eastern colleges. The western meet, however, should always be held either at Stanford or Berkeley or Los Angeles where there are stadiums capable of handling an affair of that magnitude in top-notch style and where the public is sufficiently educated to track and field sports to make such a meet a paying proposition.

HUDKINS NOT OVERWORKED

Is Ace Hudkins overdoing himself in a frantic effort to reduce to the 138-pound limit? This is the issue that is overshadowing all others in the coming Ace Hudkins-Tommy O'Brien fistic classic at the Olympic Auditorium next Wednesday night.

At the time Hudkins was confined in the City Jail for a two-day period for speeding he was heavier than at any time in his career. He weighed something like 150 pounds.

O'Brien was phoned and asked whether he would insist upon the $1000 forfeit money if he scaled slightly over 138 on the day of the bout and came back with an emphatic "yes."

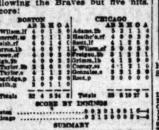

Since Ace left the stockade he has worked like a Trojan. But he does not look drawn. He ridicules the idea that he is over-working.

winners or low gross and low met in the mixed event.

More than 300 players will start qualifying, eighteen holes, Monday in the annual invitational tourney of the club. Hollywood is in wonderful shape and has always been a favorite with local golfers. The greens in particular have been greatly improved and scoring through the present week should be very good.

The invitational is open to all members of the Southern California Golf Association and players will qualify as follows: Scratch to eight, first two flights; nine to fourteen, first five flights; over fourteen, first five flights; over fourteen, first five flights; over fourteen handicap last three flights. Trophies will be awarded the winners and runner-uns in all flights and there will also be two low gross and low net prises for nonqualifiers in the special play Friday. The customary low gross and low net trophies for the qualifying play will be well up to the known Hollywood club standard.

An even larger field is expected to qualify Tuesday and match play in eight flights will get under way Wednesday, with all flight finals Sunday. Capt. A. Bullock-Webster, home club ace, who defeated the best golfers in the North for the up-State amateur title at Beresford several months ago won the invitational last year and will be one of the strongest contenders in this year's classic.

WENTY-FIVE G.A.R. VETERANS ASSEMBLE

SALT LAKE CITY, May 30.—
Only twenty-five Union Civil War veterans responded to the call of the forty-fourth annual Utah S.A.R. encampment, which assembled here today. The regular program was presented, however, with the veterans on their feet at the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" and the presentation of the fag. Women's auxiliaries of the G.A.R. are in session.

VANDALE Surrounding California's Smartest Golf Course

Founders' Announcement

NNANDALE is the outgrowth of a distinct demand for a better type of residential environment. It is a colony of distinction created by a group of men whose varied responsibilities require estates readily accessible not only to their down-town offices but to such social centers as the Annandale Golf Club, the Valley Hunt Club and those great hotels and cultural centers of Los Angeles and Pasadena where America's social life is seen at its best during the season.

Having in mind the creation of a finer-conception of country life, this group conducted a careful examination of every possible location for an exclusive colony within the metropolitan area of Los Angeles. Their search resulted in the elimination of all except the magnificent virgin area surrounding and adjoining the Ann-andale Golf Club.

This delightful spot received the unqualified approval of artists, architects, engineers and executives, and was therefore purchased by The Annandale Corporation which was immediately formed for this specific purpose.

The unique opportunity now pre- Founders' plan.

sented by the opening of Annandale will be appreciated at once by those who are quali-fied to avail themselves of this event. Immediate purchasers will enjoy the exception privilege of fixing the boundaries as as the location of their estates.

The unusual conception of this colony will be readily appreciated by a study of the Founders' plan as outlined on the left

For the convenience of those who desire to examine the property, representatives at Annandale will supplement this announce-ment with further particulars of the.

Receivership for New $7,000,000 Hotel in Florida

Beach's new $7,000,000 hotel, the Alba, which opened to the public Alba, which opened to the public in February, has gone into voluntary receivership. The structure which is one of the largest and finest in the State, of Florida was built by the Southern Florida Realty Company of which G. Maurice Heckscher, a son of August Heckscher, philanthropist, one of New York City's largest individual real estate owners, is president.

One reason for the receivership is given in the fact that extra costs were met in rushing the hotel to completion in time for opening before the past winter season ended. After it did open the patronage was disappointing.

"Dancing and other social activities are crowding out the legitimate noon lunch in the high schools all over the country, to the great detriment of the health of, young people," said Dr. Edna Baliey, supervisor of University High School Burkeley, Cal. She advised elimination of these distractions, and the provision of hot lunches by the schools.

Children who live near the water are more subject to heart trouble than those who live away from it, northeners are more likely to have rheumatic hearts than southerners, and it has remained for the doctors as a group to develop an alarming tendency towards being "golf aulcides" or victims of sudden death from heart failure, the American Heart Association meeting in conjunction with the Health Congress was told.

"Growing pains in children frequently mean rheumatic fever, with resultant heart disease," said Dr. Hyman Green of Boston. "Such children should not be neglected. If treated well, they are able to grow up to be happy and useful men and women. Some may even become athletes."

Preventable

Dr. F. F. Tisdall, pedriatrician of the hospital for sick children, Toronto.

More than 40,000 persons, most of them at the period of their greatest usefulness, die needlessly of cancer in the United States annually, Dr. George A. Soper, managing director of the American Society for the Gontrol of Cancer, told the congress.

He based this estimate on a statement by Dr. Charles P. Childe, British student of the cancer problem, that half of the deaths from cancer among women and a third of those among men are preventable. The old belief that "nobody knows anything about cancer" he branded as false.

"The information which exists today in regard to cancer." he said "is not only more extensive but of far more practical value than many persons suppose."

He characterized the advance of science in this direction during the past fifty years as "revolutionary."

BLAMES IRRITATIONS

"In the direction of causation." he continued, "may be mentioned the discovery that chronic irritation is almost invariably one of the leading factors in the production of cancer. As to cure, the use of X-ray and radium has furnished methods of treatment of incalculable service. Surgical procedures have been developed to a point which is believed to leave little more to be accomplished in this direction."

The tendency among cancer investigations now, said Dr. Soper, is to believe that the disease is more often preventable than curable. The best way to ward off cancer, he asserted, "is to prevent the chronic—irritations which lead to it."

When any one of these condi-tions occur you should go at once to a capable doctor and do what he advises.

"Upinion is becoming more and more securely settled that cancer is not due to a parasite. It would be a great step forward if the public would accept th's opinion, for it would alsoel some of the fear with which cancer is regard-ed." It would also help to end the men I Will Demonstrate that Quality Can be produced at a reasonable price!

Gentlemen: In order to get off with a flying start I am throwing down the price bars and absolutely eliminating all thought of profit for my opening week—so as to overcome any hesitancy that might arise as to patronizing a new house. There are several ways in which a new merchant may put himself on the business map; he may use the newspapers—he may wait for the sure fruition of "word of mouth" by satisfied customers—or he may sit back and patiently wait for the usual percentage of increase that comes to a legitimate enterprise. All of these methods are worthy, and I intend to profit by them, but I have neither the capital nor the disposition to linger on any slow process now. I simply must have volume to put my scheme across—for without a big, steady output I cannot effect the savings nor give the VALUES upon which the entire success of my undertaking depends. So, with humble apology to Alexander the Great, I am cutting the Gordian knot. I will be mighty well satisfied to SWAP DOLLARS for a while if by so doing I can quickly enlist the boosting spirit of the discriminating men of this city in my behalf. It is just MY idea of legitimate, DIRECT advertising—and is a procedure for which I offer no apology. Every man who orders a suit during my opening week will positively save from $15.00 to $22.50 on his purchase.

oition to make clothes "down to a price." All my training—all my no -focus on just one idea, that of having every garment I produce measure up to the exacting standard I have always regarded as the judgment seat of my work. I offer you a choice of the most exquisite foreign and domestic woolens that you will find anywhere. I will use in your suit the best linings and trimmings that money will buy—for I will handle none other. But the materials that go into a suit of clothes are not all that counts. Any man can cut good stuff, and a seamstress or a sweat shop may make cheap clothes; but it takes ability, careful judgment and painstaking application to produce the kind of TAILORING I am offering you now. I worked on my last job for five years and when I said good-bye to my boss, three weeks ago, he presented me with an expensive gold watch as a parting token. I appreciate the watch—but I appreciate much more his last remark: "Dan, I am sorry to lose you and I wish you well. I NEVER HAD TO APOLOGIZE TO A CUSTOMER FOR ANY COAT TURNED OUT BY YOU. YOU ARE A TAILOR." All I ask is one chance to make a coat for a man; when he wants another, he will look me up—and how much I am going to charge him will be his last thought.

NEED NEW BARRACKS

Gen. Woods stated that the board of managers of the Soldiers' Home at their March meeting had gone into the matter thoroughly and concluded that the sale of 160 acres was desirable, not alone because the Home does not need the land, but more particularly the $1,000,000 or more that could be realized from the sale would be sample to erect new barracks sufficient to take care of the surplus of men now at the Sawtelle Home was designed to care for 1920 men, Gen Woods stated that there are now 2316 disabled vetrans at the institution and many of them, naturally, are not properly housed. The last Congress, he recalled, had appropriated $1,500,000 for this home on assurance that that would be all that would be asked of the Federal government. Today there is need for upward of $500,000 to provide accommodations for the 400 men now without adequate quarters, he said. If the surplus land can be sold, the proceeds will more than provide the muchneeded additional quarters. Gen. Woods understood, he said, that Congress was not in a mood to make a further appropriation for the Sawtsile Home, a statement to which Representative Swing took violent exception. In fact, he advised Gen. Woods not to repeat the declaration, as he considered it a reflection on Congress.

"I, for one," said Swing, with his usual pomposity, "would be heartily in favor of making an additional appropriation."

DENIES OPPOSITION

Representative Free refuted a statement by Congressman Swing that the president of the University of California and the regents of the university did not want this bill to pass. Mr. Free introduced a telegram from President Campbell of the university stating their position to be that while they had no present intention of establishing a college of agriculture in connection with the southern branch of the university, that the need might arise in the future, and it was very desirable that the Soldiers' Home land be acquired so that it might be available when needed. Mr. Free stated further that in a conference yesterday with Garrett W. McErnerny of San Francisco, a regent of the university, Mr. McErnerny had stated that this was the position of the regents of the university.

Mr. Swing went back to the attack and said he opposed the cutting down of the reservation or the parriotic ground that the land had

FEARS CRAMPING

FEARS CRAMPING

Mr. Swing denied that his opposition to the bill was due to the request of Riverside interests who feared the establishment of an agricultural school at the southern branch would hurt the farm experimental station at Riverside. His interest, Mr. Swing asserted, was that the veterans should not be deprived of their spacious grounds and hemmed in by the tenements ard apartments of the ever-approaching city of Los Angeles. Gen. Wrods later stated that the board of directors had reached the conclusion that 300 acres was the extreme size for the crounds of a soldiers' home if it is to be well managed and that the would in the future recommend this. He had previously said that the present acreage of the Sawtelle home is 675 acres, 412 of which is used for farming and that the change in the sewage system and consequent lack of water for irrigation would make it unprofitable to continue this farming. The contemplated sale, if carried out, would still leave 515 acres for the veterans and provide them with new accommodations.

GUIDING INSURANCE BUYERS London Daily Radio

BY GRIFFIN M. LOVELACE

Professor of Insurance, New York University
ne of a series of articles appearing in The Times three times a week, all phases of insurance. The next article will appear on Saturday.

XXIX.—Public Liability—Your Home

XXIX.—Public Liability—Your Home
One may readily understand the need for automobile liability insurance. If you drive on a public highway and injure another person it seems reasonable, if you were at fault, that you should be obliged to make some financial restitution for the injuries you have caused.

But is it possible that in your own home you may be responsible for the injuries to persons who come there to work, or to see you on business, or who arrive at your invitation to sit at your table, eat your a food and enjoy the entertainment you have provided for them?

Suppose you had a country place, were a poultry fancier and owned a prize rooster and that a friend drove out to see you and your family, bringing the children, so that they might enjoy your lawns and flowers and your fresh air. And suppose the children, investigating your poremises with the normal curiosity of childhood, should find their way to your poultry yard and should get inside the runway where your prize rooster was quartered.

Finally, suppose that your cock of the walk should resent the intrusion, attack a little girl and peck out one of her eyes.

LIABILITY DOUBTFUL

Tou would be distressed; you might be so worried that you couldn't sleep. You might chop off the rooster's head. But would it occur to you that your friend might sue you for a large sum of money?

And if he did would you imagine that any same court would admit such a suit to trial? And if the case were actually tried, do you believe that any jury of your peers would take more than a minute to give you the verdict?

You weren't to blame. You didn't ask those people to come to your house. You are not responsible if their children are not well brought up and go where they have no right to be.

The result might be in your favor. But there is no assurance that it would be.

I have just read of an Illinois man whose rooster behaved as described above. Suit has been brought by his cousin, who took his little daughter to spend the week on the same premises where the rooster lived. The father contended that his cousin knew the rooster was a bad actor, and he has hired two lawyers to fight his case for him. I have not yet learned the outcome. But what do you think a jury would do? LIABILITY DOUBTFUL was a bad actor, and he has hired two lawyers to fight his case for in that stock set and profets in most other may rate stiff the owner of this villainous cock had had a liability policy protecting him in case of accidents causing injuries to people while upon his premises he would only have notified the insurance company of the injury to the child and referred his cousin to the company. The latter's investigators and lawyers would have done the rest; and if the insurance had been sufficient, the company would not only have pald any judgment but also all costs of every kind incurred in the investigation and in the defense of the suit.

Tou may never drive an automobile nor ride in one; you may stay acrost the form and in the time in a quiet country place far from the noise and bustle of the city. You may never invite people to come to see you. You may even discourage them from intruding upon your peace and put the stock is shown to be a chimney; a brick might fall on some one's head. There are steps somewhere in your place; some one might fall on some one's head. There are steps somewhere in your place; some one might fall don your your stairway. Tou may pride yourself on your beautiful, highly polished parquet flowers; and frequently the plaintiff wins.

The question then is, Who will pay? Unfortunately, as a rule, the property owner himself pays the amount of the judgment, court costs and lawyers' fees. But this is not necessary if he only carries an adequate amount of public liability protection. Usually, however, the limits carried are too low. High limits do not cost much more than the stock.

Hudson Rebounds on Correction
Within the short space of five minutes the whole situation in Hudson was changed. The report of the regular quarterly divided disbursement, which had broken the stock immediately before, had proved premature and incorrect. The fact of the matter was that directors had in reality ordered an increase in the regular cash rate to $3.50 a share from $3 and the distribution of an extra of 20 per cent in stock. The incorrect flash, as the news agencies later explained, was received through one of the big wire houses with Detroit connections. Pandemenlum broke loose around the Hudson post thereafter. Bears, who a minute before had literally seized the built by the horns, turned tail and retreated in disorder. Huge buying orders appeared in tile stock under which it was carried forward some 6 points from the low levels in a few minutes. Other motors naturally responded and pronounced strength prevailed throughout the group.

A young man from Canada came to the United States and was pay-ing a call at a house where there

BY WILLIAM FEATHER

HE most successful individuals and the most successful busi-nesses are invariably those that are performing some useful service.

Sometimes a business gets so big that the man at the top ears to be doing nothing except to draw a stiff salary for look-wise. As a matter of fact, he would gladly trade his job for r job. He now has to depend on others to do things he once himself. This is not easy.

Within the dock gates a big house stands, walled in, it is the house of the dockmaster, the uncrowned king of the little kingdom. Here he reigns, for he is responsible for the incoming and outgoing of the hig ships.

The big house has a garden, a lovely garden that has a lawn as green as an emerald, and a willow tree that makes a playhouse for the dockmaster's children. Laughter rings out, for it is a merry house.

Gretchen Fleischer Scores as Assisting Artist

BY PAUL SHEEDY The thousands of parents and pupils here in the Southwest who have followed with keen interest the progress of The Times' finals in the National Oratorical Contest in the National Oratorical Contest will hear the eight youths who led all the others in the competition for the coveted honor of representing this district at the national finals in Washington next month. Starting this evening and continuing into next week, these high-school boys and girls will deliver their winning orations over KHJ's microphone.

The series of eight broadcast orations will start at $:30 p.m., when William Behne of Whittier High School will speak, followed at $:30 p.m., when William Behne of Whittier High School will speak, followed at $:30 p.m., by Alen Bible of Fallon (Nev.) High School. None will be given tomorrow evening, but two additional students will be presented at the same hours Sunday evening, then one each on next Tuesday, Wednesday, Thrusday and Friday evenings. On this last night, Herbert Wenig of Hollywood High School, winner of first place in the district, and the representative at the Washington (D. C.) finals, will deliver the oration that won him the honor.

Tuesday, Wednesday. Thursday and Friday evenings. On this last night, Herbert Wenig of Hollywood High School, winner of first place in the district, and the representative at the Washington (D. C.) Imals, will deliver the oration that won him the honor.

ZOELLINER QUARTET HEARD Announcement of the presentation of these winning orations was made last evening during the brilliant de luxe program of the tower studio when the Zoellner String Quariet appeared in their weekly recital, with Gretchen Fleischer, mezzo-moprano, scoring as the assisting artist. Mona Content, the studio's concert planist, served as accompanist, with young Laon Ramon, the boy monologist, angrearing with his novel talks, and "Mawrus" giving a splendid touch of humor to the evening with his "Gross Exaggerations." Of the many chamber music organizations heard in this country in the last few years, one of the most conspicuous for its ensemble and interpretative spirit is the Zoeliner Quartet. This group includes Antoinette Zoeliner, Amandus Zoeliner, Joseph Zoeliner, Servand Joseph Zoeliner, Joseph Zoeli cludes Antoinette Zoellner, Amandus Zoellner, Joseph Zoellner, Jr.

TOUR EUROPE

They toured abroad for seven years, appearing in the more important European centers, before coming to America in 1912. Since then the Zoellner Quarter has made numerous transcontinental tours of this country and Canads. When living in Europe they were frequently heard at the royal residence in Brussels and received decorations from the mother of King Albert. The Zoellners have won an envisible international reputation. They also conduct a nationally known conservatory of music here in Los Angeles.

The program opened with a spiritual interpretation of the first movement of Mendelssohn's "Quartet Only 12. Adagle—Allegro non Tardante." Mendelssohn wrote seven string quartets, the finest and best being the one played by the Zoellners its tevening. The happiness of life is expressed in every line of the music.

Next followed the "Variations" by Schubert on his own song. "Death and the Maiden." The charm of Schubert's music is always persuasive and when played by the Zoellners it becomes irresistible.

In the meantime it is not certain who will play the feminine lead in "Broken Hearts of Hollywood," as Patsy Ruth Miller is still too ill to work, but it is on the books that either Eleanor Boardman or Pauline Starke will be borrowed from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to play the pert. At least, negotiations are on to this end.

But speaking of Webb, this brilliant young director is looking forward to a trip to Europe next year, when he expects to direct a picture or two for UFA, in Berlin.

Tom Santacht and Tom Wilson are the latest additions to the cast of John Barrymore's starring film, "Manon Lescaut."

Others in the long list of players comprising the cast include, in addition to those mentioned, Dolores Costello, Sam DeGrass, Homes Herbert, Warner Oland, Marcelle Corday, Charles Clary, Templar Saxe, Eugene Besserer, Rose Dione, Bertram Grassby, Noble Johnson and Stuart Holmes. Alan Crosland is directing.

Tem Wilson has also been signed for the important role of a negro sergeant in "Aross the Pacific," in which Monte Blue will star as the daring Spanish-American Warhero, under the direction of Roy Dei Ruth, Darryl Zanuck is writin the Scenario.

Cutter and Plane Join Search for Body of Missing Evangel

A GOVERNMENT cutter and an airplane, the latter volunteered by Art Goebel, local pilot, joined yesterday in the search for the body of Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, believed to have lost her life Tues surf at Ocean Park. Scores lined the pier at Ocean Park and scattered out over the sands scanning the restless surf for the body, while lifeboats from which guards dived in an effort to locate the body, bobbasirplane circled overhead and the government cutter 259 cruised slowly, dragging the bottom with gang hooks. At a late hour last night all efforts had been unavailing.
